Indigene Scholarship Scheme

The Indigene Scholarship Scheme offers scholarships to students attending the Local Authority Primary School in Iloko town which is the school's host community and to students attending primary schools in Oriade LGA in Osun State. The Scholarship covers full tuition and boarding throughout their stay in the school.

As a school, we are keen to see the scholarship programme extended to accommodate more students. There are so many students with the potential to benefit from an Olashore education. Every day, thousands of children across the nation give up on their dreams for an education as a result of lack of funds. We may not be able to help them all but we can help some. We believe investing in the future of these ones is the right thing to do and you can be a part of this project.

You can contribute by making payment into the scholarship account:

From the Alumni Officer

Happy New Year and welcome to another edition of the Olashore Alumni magazine. In this edition, as usual you get to read of some of the latest happenings in the school. Our Cover features an interview with Leye Makanjuola as he talks about life after graduation.

It is the New Year and there couldn't be a better time to ensure that we are healthy. The school medical team created a questionnaire to help us do just that. You will find the questionnaire in our health column, all you have to do is answer the questions truthfully and score yourself.

It gives us great pleasure to hear of our alumni and their successes. Do you have a story to share or do you know anyone who does? Contact us on alumni@olashoreschool.com.

Here is saying a big thank you to everyone who has contributed to the success of this magazine. Feel free to send your contributions, suggestions and articles to us. Olashore International School...a great vision

D. K. Smith
CEO & PRINCIPAL

Welcome to the first edition of the Olashore Alumni magazine this year. The first term of the academic year was busy with a range of events I am sure you will remember. The annual PTA Swimming Gala was a fun event, especially with the return of the staff race. Speech and Prize Giving was an inspiring day with Mrs. Adepeju Adebayo urging all students to keep pursuing their dreams.

One of the things that I have seen as I continue to meet more and more alumni is that the ability to pursue and achieve your dream is something that you all excel at. In this magazine Leye Makanjuola talks about how he realised after completing his degree that his dream lay in another direction. However he didn't give up but chose to pursue that dream and is now making waves in Nigeria in digital marketing.

In digital marketing Leye has identified a cutting edge industry. Within the school we are also trying to improve in this area. In 2016 the school linked with one of the leading international school website companies to design a new bespoke website. The website allows us to manage content directly from school in an easy online editor. The website went live at the start of 2017 and over the coming months students will begin to add blogs, video and articles. We will keep all our friends and followers informed of these additions through our social media so please link with us on Facebook and twitter. In addition to these feeds I also have a LinkedIn account where I have met many of you online. I hope we can continue to build a thriving alumni community through that media.

In addition to meeting alumni online, it is great when you come back to visit the school. Over resumption weekend we had a number of alumni visit the school and I'm pleased to say they seemed to like what they saw. They were a little surprised by air-conditioned classrooms and hot water in the hostels but this is the 21st century! I would encourage any alumni who are in the area to feel free to drop in any time, however, if you want to fix a date why not come for Founder's Day. This year we will celebrate it a little earlier on Saturday 11th February. This allows us to combine it with Visiting Day. The Special Guest of Honour will be former governor Donald Duke and we look forward to hearing his words.

If you can't make it to school then why not come along to an Open Event? Over the next few weeks the Chairman, Prince Abimbola Olashore, and I will be around Nigeria, visiting Lagos, Port Harcourt, Abuja and Warri to meet parents, former parents, alumni and prospective parents and share the development of the school. We will also be in London on the 28th January. Full details are in the magazine and it would be great to see you soon.

How healthy are you?

This questionnaire is a light-hearted way of gauging how healthy you are or unhealthy - but surely it's better to know so you can do something about it.

To calculate your BMI in kg/m:

What is your weight in kg? ____ What is your height in m?²?

Your Body Mass Index = Weight(kg)/Height(m)²=

Your scores (Add up your score for each question)

1. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5 If you scored 1 or 2, be grateful and try to keep it that way. Good health is a gift to be treasured.
2. No score for this. You may not need to go to a doctor if you are in good health but the occasional check-up could help. Some people with health issues wait too long to see a doctor. If you go daily, you are probably a hypochondriac.
3. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 Don't expect to be healthy if you don't care.

Nutrition

1. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5
If you scored 5, just remember, you are what you eat. If all you eat is junk, work out the rest for yourself.
2. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5
Well done if you scored 1. Most snacks are high in calories and generally unhealthy.
3. A=3 B=2 C=1
It may not be a big health issue but heavy eating late night has been linked with obesity.
4. A=5 B=4 C=3 D=2 E=1
Lots of water assists digestion and improves kidney function.
5. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5
Medical scientists all appear to agree on one thing; fruit is extremely good for you. Vitamin C and other antioxidants lower blood cholesterol improve bowel function and reduce the chances of cancer.
6. A=5 B=4 C=3 D=2 E=1
Most people have less energy at certain times of day, especially after meals. Falling energy levels are often caused by poor diet.
7. Give yourself 2 points for each box you ticked. Eating according to mood can lead to rapid weight gain.
8. A=4 B=3 C=2 D=1
Does anyone think that overeating can be good for you?
9. A=1 B=2 C=3
Go carefully! A diet high in sodium (from common salt) can lead to high blood pressure and kidney problems.

Exercise

1. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5
Well done if you still manage to keep fit and active.
2. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4
Don't use the car for short journeys when you could easily walk!

3. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5

Exercise has a multitude of health benefits – not exercising brings major health risks.

Lifestyle

1. A=10 B=3 C=1
You get a lot of extra points if you are a smoker. Cigarette smoking is a disaster for your health and puts you at high risk from all sorts of health threats.
2. A=6 B=3 C=2 D=1 E=1
Although heavy drinking is a serious health risk, an occasional alcoholic drink may not make much difference.
3. A=5 B=4 C=2 D=1 E=1
Sleep requirements vary with age and between individuals but adequate sleep is essential for good health.
4. A=4 B=3 C=2 D=1
An active lifestyle can provide much of the exercise we need.
5. A=1 B=2 C=3 D=4 E=5
Continuous high levels of stress can affect the immune system and increase the risk of many illnesses.

Body Profile

1. A=7 B=5 C=2 D=1 E=3
A healthy BMI is from 18.5-25. Obesity is defined as a BMI over 30 and is strongly linked with many health problems. Under 18.5 is also at risk.
My overall score is ____ Under 20 – You should be proud of yourself! You are undoubtedly in excellent health. Either that, or you are being “economical with the truth”.

21-35 – Not a bad result. You like to enjoy a few good things in life rather than sit around worrying about little risks here and there, but you are careful not to indulge yourself excessively.

36-55 – You might need to cut down on a few indulgences and maybe get a bit more exercise. Try to avoid stressful situations and take it easy at mealtimes. Do you really need all those snacks?

Over 56-65 – You are in the red zone. This sort of lifestyle is not sustainable. A few bad habits need to be corrected. Over 65 - Well done for being so honest. It can't be easy admitting that you've let things slide so far. Still, acknowledging a problem is often the first step on the road to correcting it, so start making some changes today.

Academic success is the foundation of an Olashore education and Speech and Prize Giving Day allows the school to recognise achievement and celebrate students who performed excellently throughout the year.

Speaking at the event, the Principal Mr.D.K.Smith said "Rewarding academic excellence achieved through hard work is the foundation of Olashore International School."

Mrs. Adepeju Adebajo, MD Project Management & Geocycle at Lafarge Africa Plc was the guest speaker and she urged the students not to give up on their dreams and themselves.

It is worth noting that as part of promoting academic excellence, the Scholarship Programme was extended. Academic scholarships were given to the top three returning students in each year group who were not already in receipt of a scholarship. This is in contrast to previous years where the award was given only to the best student in the year group. The Entrance Scholarship was also extended as the ten top performing students in the entrance examination who joined the school received a scholarship.

Leye Makanjuola

Entrepreneur & Digital Marketer

What have you been up since graduation in 2003?

I was at home for 2 years studying for SATs, learning computer programs and working for my Dad's company on the side. I didn't get a student visa to the USA so I had to school in Nigeria for the next 4 years. After my youth service in Lagos in 2010, I worked for an oil and gas support company called Moody Intertek as an accounts officer for 3 years. While there, I started a social media influencer and content creation platform called iPublicizeNaija. I later moved to Lead Capital as a Social Media Manager and worked there for a year. I started my company, Intense, immediately after and have been running it for 2 years now.

Where did you have your higher education and what did you study?

I studied Economics at Lead City University for my BSc and Marketing Communication at Pan Atlantic University for my Masters.

You are into digital marketing. Why digital marketing?

Unfortunately, I'm one of those people who studied something they have little interest in. I'm not a big fan of numbers, except simple arithmetic which I need for calculating my money. While I was working as an accounts officer, handling payroll for contract staff, I quickly discovered that wasn't what I wanted to do and started to look inwards for what I could do effortlessly. I decided it was speaking and writing. So I started writing freelance for a blog called FAB magazine. I later started my own influencer iPublicizeNaija(IPN) and worked on it after work till late in the night on most days. While working on IPN, people started to ask me for marketing services, web design, social media growth etc. I saw the opportunity and started to study companies and take courses online. I continued to get more enquiries, until I felt it was high time to quit my day job, so I quit to focus on digital marketing.

What does digital marketing entail for you?

Digital marketing entails activities that showcase a brand or individual's product/service offerings to their target audience wherever they may be online with the aim of informing them or converting them into leads or customers.

What are some of the challenges you face or have faced as a digital marketer?

Digital marketing as a field requires learning new things every day. You have to keep learning. If you don't learn any new trends for up to a year you might be obsolete. Finding the time to learn at a fast pace while juggling several positions in my small company I will say is the biggest challenge. Finding exceptional talent who love what they do has to be second on the list.

You have worked with clients such as Total Nigeria, Chi Happy Hour and Sovereign Trust Insurance. What has the experience been like?

It has been a learning process. Different companies have their unique standards, processes and modes of operation which we have to adapt to when we work for them. I have learnt a lot with all our clients, even with missed opportunities. You can't cheat the system, you have to build your capacity and profile and with time you'll get better and the 'big companies' will come calling because your experience will speak for itself.

Finding the time to learn at a fast pace while juggling several positions in my small company I will say is the biggest challenge. Finding exceptional talent who love what they do has to be second on the list.

How did the school prepare you for life today?

I learnt the importance of teamwork regardless of conflicting ideas. There are no permanent friendships but permanent interests. I always keep that at the back of my mind.

What were some of your fond memories of school?

There are too many happy memories. The guest dinners, carnivals, variety shows, drama. I remember an epic debate where I was the best speaker and even though I wasn't the best athlete, I remember breaking a record in high jump. Most of the other memories can't be shared now. I'll put them in my biography.

You are currently an ambassador of Hootsuite. For those who don't know, what is Hootsuite about?

Hootsuite is the most widely used social media tool in the world. It is very useful for scheduling social media messages and analyzing social media performance.

I want to grow my company into a $100 million business in the next 10 years. This will include sister companies for Intense which will venture into agriculture, fast food, retail, export and consulting.

How long have you been an ambassador and what has the experience been like?

I was one of the first to start using Hootsuite in Nigeria in 2012. They engaged me officially in 2014 to spread the word about the tool. I held the first Hootsuite event in Nigeria called HootUp Lagos at the Oriental hotel in July 2014.

Talking about giving back to the society, how are you giving back to society?

We are working on giving back to our immediate community by teaching public secondary school students in the Ikoyi-Obalende area about digital marketing and the power of information technology.

What is your personal mantra?

Definiteness of purpose; know what you want and go for it. Don't let anybody tell you, you can't do something.

What drives you?

The fact that everything we call civilization today was created by people no smarter than me. If I apply myself and work smart enough, I can re-create myself time and time again.

Who are your role models?

I don't have any role models. I believe we are all unique and our journeys are different. I have people I admire right now. They may change when I move into a new industry because I am an entrepreneur at heart and I follow opportunity. In Nigeria I admire people like Debola Williams, Jason Njoku and Steve Babaeko while internationally, Richard Branson and Sean Combs.

What is the most important advice you ever received?

I will choose the words of King Solomon. Do not be over righteous, neither be over wise – why destroy yourself? Ecclesiastes 7:16

What is the next phase for you?

I want to grow my company into a $100 million business in the next 10 years. This will include sister companies for Intense which will venture into agriculture, fast food, retail, export and consulting. My life's goal is to change the way education is delivered in Nigeria. As a product of the system, I didn't understand a lot of things because they were shoved into my head as theory rather than being demonstrated to me as practical skills essential for human existence.

Students raise funds for projects

By Kalu Ginikachukwu
and Aminat Yakubu

Service is a key part of the Olashore Leadership Programme, which is based on the Social Change Model of leadership. The programme, which began as a pilot in 2014, now includes projects to improve the environment, support children from the local community as well as improving the facilities in the local government schools and health centre.

To carry out these projects, the students need to raise funds.

In light of this, Year 10 and 11 students carried out a range of activities to raise funds for their projects. The students sold pin ups, rosettes, tickets to a football match, cupcakes and drinks to parents and guests. The students also took advantage of the Swimming Gala to wash cars at a fee.

Olashore launches new website

In the technology driven society we live in, every organisation understands the importance of having a good website. For a school, when it comes to making a good first impression it is very important as it is often the first contact that people have with the school. As a result affects the overall image and reputation of the school.

Olashore International School has spent the last 12 months working on creating a state of the art school website that will ensure better user experience. The website is designed and developed by a reputable website developing company in the U.K. that has carved a niche in the area of designing websites specifically for schools. Their mission is to create, develop and deliver intelligent and innovative school websites to benefit schools, parents and students. With over 600 million websites out there, what makes our website stand out?

Easy navigation

The new website offers simple and user friendly navigation. The information on the website has been arranged into specific categories. As a result, you can now find everything you need quickly and easily as the clear navigation tabs will lead you to the sections of the website you will find most relevant and informative.

Quality content

The website will deliver a range of quality content to serve visitors to the site whether they are parents, students, alumni or the general public. One of the key features of the new site is the House Blog section. This is easily accessible from the front page and will be constantly updated. The content will be curated by students resident in each house in the school (Yellow, Red, Blue and Green house) and is part of the leadership project developed by Year 9 students. Through the blog, visitors to the site will be able to follow students activities such as inter-house competitions, prefect campaigns and elections, variety nights among other activities.

Video is now a key aspect of any website and Olashore's new website is no exception. There will be videos of all school activities, most of which will be created by students. Students have been using iPads to create great iMovies of trips, school news and competitions and now parents will be able to view these videos at home or on their mobile devices. New visitors will be able to learn about the history of the school, its vision and philosophy and easily take a virtual tour of the school right from their own space. The site will provide in details current information on all the programmes on offer in the school as well as the admission process. Visitors to the site will be informed about the Olashore hostel life exploring the various houses, hostel arrangements, extracurricular activities and religious activities at the school. All our brochures will also be available to download from the website including the current school prospectus. A page has been dedicated to our alumni with current information about their progress following graduation from Olashore. This page will also serve as an avenue for alumni to reconnect and network with one another.

Up to date information

The website will provide an easy means for parents to stay in touch with the school, as well as be informed of school activities. The public will be kept abreast of all school activities and student involvement in events such as Founder's Day, Speech and Prize Giving Day, Valedictory Service and Olashore Open

Day and Open Events via the upcoming event calendar and news from Olashore features. Part of the project will also see an app become available later in the month allowing parents and alumni to receive instant updates direct to their phone.

Speed

All graphics, video and audio have been optimised to ensure speed when loading so you do not have to worry about about pages opening slowly or waiting for contents to download. This way you can access information quickly and without delay.

Optimization

The website meets global standards and is optimized for all internet enabled mobile devices. This means that it is easy to use on mobile and its responsiveness allows its features adjust to fit any internet enabled device that you choose to view it on. So irrespective of your device whether it is a laptop, smart phone or tablet, you can be sure to get the same user friendly experience.

Community

OIS goes traditional

As Olashore goes traditional, the students and staff were all adorned in various attires to represent the three major ethnic groups in the country thereby celebrating Nigeria's diverse culture. The traditional day goes down as one of the most colourful events in the school clearly showing the beauty that exists in our culture.

PTA Swimming Gala

The annual Olashore PTA Swimming Gala brought parents, friends, staff and students of the school together to watch as students competed for the 'Big Fish' trophy.

The event kicked off with the championship rounds in junior and senior categories for boys and girls respectively. Netochukwu Kalu emerged victorious in the junior girls' category while Ughimi Collins came first in the boys' category. Similarly, in the senior category, Amoo Pelumi and Bukunmi Smith claimed first position.

This was followed by the relay events where the four teams-Piranhas, Sardines, Sharks, and Stingrays led by their captains competed for the trophy. At the end of the relay, Stingray led by Kanyisola Bamisile was declared the winning team and awarded the trophy.
